Areas of Interest:

Working strategically and collaboratively in philanthropic efforts that are critical to the success of our region, particularly efforts in economic mobility and youth connections.

The Foundation administers the following funding opportunities:

Episcopal Presbyterian Health Trust

This trust is dedicated to providing access to healthcare for underserved populations in the St. Louis area. The focus is on organizations that are looking to expand services, model new approaches to healthcare delivery, or to build collaborations.

Pettus Foundation

This foundation primarily supports nonprofit organizations in the St. Louis area. Applications are by invitation only.

The Foundation provides grants for:

- education, including early childhood education and K-12 schools, with a focus on the middle school years; and,
- workforce development, including soft skills and direct job, technical, and career training; and,
- youth development, such as preparation for the workforce, including soft skills, and preparation for life after high school, including higher education, technical school, military, or apprenticeship programs.

Charless Foundation

This foundation supports organizations working with economically underserved seniors in the St. Louis region, with priority given to those in South St. Louis City. Broadly, the goal of these grants is to promote the health, welfare, and wellness of older adults. More specifically, the Foundation is interested in organizations and initiatives that

- support the needs of older adults in residential facilities;
- increase the ability of older adults to age in place;
- provide health and safety resources for older adults; and,
- provide social support to older adults.

The Charless Foundation is open to proposals for program, project, or initiative funding; general operating support or capacity building.

Gateway Regional Environment Fund

This program supports projects in the St. Louis metro area that advance community efforts to reduce the region's carbon footprint.

Guy B. Jaffe and Judy Schwartz Jaffe Charitable Foundation

This program provides grants in the priority areas of entrepreneurship, job creation, and cultural arts. In addition, one annual IMPACT grant is made to a St. Louis-based Jewish organization that provides innovative programming to their community.

Spirit of St. Louis Women's Fund

This program awards grants to smaller St. Louis-area nonprofits.

Note: The Saint Louis Community Foundation also administers a number of scholarship programs for area residents.
